

Calling engineers, fabricators, model makers, mechanics, designers, inventors, and general gear head geniuses ...

Renegade Pictures, a leading tv and film production company, are looking for the most innovative design and engineering brains in the UK and US to host a 6-part science television series.

Two teams of top problem solvers will design and build prototype solutions to real-world problems.

When the Chief of Police in Villamoura, Portugal throws down the challenge to STOP JOY RIDERS, or the Norwegian Mountain Rescue asks for a new AVALANCHE RESCUE DESIGN, our teams scramble to create inventive solutions -- demonstrating hands on skills and lateral thinking.

The result? Genuinely making a difference while providing an hour of dynamic, unpredictable, fact packed and visually stunning television.

We're looking for people with extensive practical fabrication skills and inventive minds, who can explain science and engineering concepts in 'layman terms' as we follow the prototyping process from start to finish.

E-mail goodtv@gmail.com with a CV or short biography, recent photo and contact details or call 202-607-3828 for more information.